

Our Mother of Perpetual Help

Our Mother of Perpetual Help

Our Lady Queen of Peace Church of Maywood, New Jersey, plays host to the weekly Wednesday novena of Our Lady of Perpetual Help (also known as Our Lady of Perpetual Succour).

The devotion to Our Lady of Perpetual Help started with the Redemptorist Priests who were appointed as both custodians and missionaries of the icon (in front of this insert) by Pope Pius IX in 1865. We pay tribute to the Blessed Virgin Mary in asking for her assistance in providing us strength and comfort. The image has become very popular among Roman Catholics in particular, and has been very much copied and reproduced. Modern reproductions are sometimes displayed in homes, business establishments, and public transportation. On 23 June 1867, the image was granted a Canonical Coronation and its official recognition of the Marian icon under its present title. The Redemptorist priests are the only religious order currently entrusted by the Holy See to protect and propagate a Marian religious work of art. Due to the overwhelming devotion to this Marian title in the Philippines, the image is also affectionately titled the Holy Virgin of Baclaran. The feast day of Our Mother of Perpetual Help is celebrated on June 27, with novena devotions held every Wednesday.
